

Designing Virtual Zoom Background

A blurred background is a great way to make a professional impression during a video call. It shows you're serious about the meeting and willing to invest in the right technology